

PROGRAM PHILOSOPHY AND OBJECTIVE

The goal of La Salle University's Master of Education (M.Ed.) Program, in partnership with Regional Training Center (RTC), is to develop the teacher as a master educator in the classroom and beyond. The La Salle/ RTC M.Ed. Program, offered throughout Pennsylvania, Maryland, and online, gives teachers the skills to stimulate and challenge their students to become more actively involved in the learning process, to think critically and problem-solve, to become more creative, to communicate more effectively, and to collaborate as they learn in the 21st-century classroom.

As professional educators, teachers in the La Salle/RTC M.Ed. Program focus on understanding not only what works in the teaching process but also why it works. Meaningful inquiry into the link between theory and practice is built into all of the courses in this 30-credit program which has concentration choices that allow teachers to specialize in their area of interest.

Practice-rooted instruction culminates in a project that enables the teacher to investigate an area of personal and professional interest through a reflective teaching process. Teachers in the program will apply the strategies, processes, structures, and understanding from their studies to their classrooms, emphasizing methods that work best in teaching their curriculum to reach every student. Inquiry-based coursework encourages teachers to further develop teaching concepts, skills, processes, and procedures, as well as content-area knowledge required for today's classrooms and the classrooms of the future.

The overriding goal of the La Salle/RTC Program is for teachers to maximize their students' learning while creating a classroom atmosphere that invites a high level of student accountability and participation.

ACCREDITATION

The La Salle/RTC Master of Education Program and its concentrations have been fully approved by La Salle University. It follows all graduate program evaluation and assessment processes to ensure a continuous high-quality graduate program in education. La Salle University is accredited by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education and programs are approved by the Pennsylvania Department of Education and the Maryland Higher Education Commission.

Candidates are expected to complete the application process prior to completing six credits in the program.

Candidates must:

- hold an appropriate bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited institution with at least a 3.0 undergraduate grade point average;
- complete the online application;
- submit all official undergraduate (and any graduate) transcripts;
- provide a professional résumé; and
- provide two names of individuals that La Salle University will contact to request a letter of recommendation. If a letter is already written, send it in sealed confidential envelope.

Note: This program does not lead to teacher certification.

Candidates who would like to strengthen their application are encouraged to take the Graduate Record Examination. Candidates with a cumulative under-graduate GPA of less than a 3.0 are strongly encouraged to take the GRE. Candidates who already hold a master's degree typically would not take the GRE.

The program utilizes Regional Training Center distributed courses.
